Question 1:

Can an organization submit a project for country A (lead) and another project for country B (lead) with different themes and partners?

Answer (to question 1):

According to the provisions of 111.10 in the Call for project proposals file, each bidder may submit only one project proposal. On the other hand, he/she may appear as a partner in another or (more) proposal(s).

Therefore, an organization that submits a project for country A as lead can no longer submit a project for country B as lead (project developer). However, it may be part of a consortium for a project B, as a member, but not a lead (carrier).

Question 2:

The published documents are in PDF format; would it be possible to make available on your website the Word format of the documents to be returned under this call for proposals?

Answer (to question 2) :

At this stage of the selection process, published documents should not be in Word format. All tenderers are required to use the published PDF documents, taking appropriate care to fully reproduce the information in the bidding document, should this prove necessary.
